The Real Presence of Christ on our Parish Feast Day

by Jake Derry, Campus Ministry Associate

Jesus Christ is our king. This is what we celebrate on November 26th: the Feast of Christ the King. Therefore, we cannot see ourselves as just “followers” of Christ, like we might “follow” friends or pop culture celebs on Instagram.

We are servants to Jesus, and servants not out of obligation, but out of love. Knowing Jesus changes how we live, doesn’t it? How do we serve Jesus then?

In Matthew 25, Jesus tells his disciples (us) how we are supposed to serve:

“For I was hungry and you gave me food,
I was thirsty and you gave me drink,
a stranger and you welcomed me,
naked and you clothed me,
ill and you cared for me,
in prison and you visited me”

He gives further clarification when He adds, “Amen, I say to you, whatever you did for one of the least brothers of mine, you did for me.”

This means that we must choose to see the holiness of Jesus in everyone around us, particularly “the least” -- the poor, the refugee, the sick and hungry, the oppressed and outcasts.

We must choose to be servants to each other, recognizing that being a servant usually doesn’t mean doing something; most often it really just means listening and being mutually with someone in their suffering.

I agree with Susan Slavin and Coralie Salvador when they said, “the poor reflect the presence of Christ in a real way. The institutional church prefers a sacramental Christ because it’s less demanding. We spend an hour in church on Sunday and that’s it. It’s much more difficult to spend an hour under the roof of someone who is really poor. That person is more real. That poor person is the real presence of Christ.”

I want to share with you a wonderful first step for us to begin living out the fullness of this call to “be with.”

On Saturday, December 9th, we invite you to the Feast Day of Service (celebrating the Feast of the Immaculate Conception) here at St. Mary. On this day, we will gather for mass, lunch, and then go out into our community to lend a hand, our ears, and our hearts to non-profit organizations and those in need.

Please join us for this day. Then, hopefully, we will choose to develop what Fr. Greg Boyle describes as, “a compassion that can stand in awe at what the poor have to carry rather than stand in judgment at how they carry it.”

If you can’t make this particular day in December, don’t worry. We’ll have more opportunities to be servants of Jesus with our daytime warming center in January, joining our parish “Big Read” between now and February, and of course, you could just start today, wherever you are.

Finally, I’d like to note that while service is important, it is just the first step. Our faith is not described as a “faith that does service every once in awhile” but a “faith that does justice [always].”

If we truly, in all our heart, believe that “the least” are the real presence of Christ, then we must go a step further by actively working against the systems and institutions that oppress subsets of our human family. This includes, but is not limited to: people of color, people who are immigrants and refugees, people who are LGBTQ, and others.

With this in mind, I encourage you to take time now to reflect on how you already have been serving Jesus, our king, through faith, service, and justice, and how you’d like to better serve Him going forward.

Ignatian Family Teach-In by Maggie Larin, Hispanic-Latino/Faith and Justice Ministry Intern

Earlier this month, I joined a group of 7 other St. Mary students, staff, and parishioners at the Ignatian Family Teach-In for Justice in Washington D.C.

The Teach-In was first instituted in memory of the 6 Jesuit martyrs of El Salvador and their companions Elba and Celina Ramos, who were killed at the UCA (the Jesuit University in San Salvador) in 1989 near the end of the Civil War. Now, it is the largest Catholic social justice conference in the United States. This year, more than 2000 students, staff, and parishioners from Jesuit high schools, universities, and parishes gathered in Washington, D.C. to hear from distinguished speakers, including racial justice scholar Fr. Bryan Massingale, executive director of Pax Christi, and author Fr. James Martin, S.J. We also had the opportunity to attend breakout sessions, and our own director of Hispanic Ministry Amy Ketner and parishioner Pamela Quintana Salazar were on a panel about Immigration—and you can find a video of it on our Facebook page: <https://www.facebook.com/SMSP.UM/videos/10155721186180275/>

After the conference we went to Capitol Hill to meet with members of Congress about Immigration—specifically to encourage them to co-sponsor or sign a clean Dream Act—and criminal justice reform. We had a jam-packed day thanks to the enthusiastic support of our parish! We had the opportunity to sit down with staffers from Senator Gary Peters's and Representative Justin Amash's offices. We also visited 5 Senate offices and 23 more in the House of Representatives to deliver over 500 letters!

This was my third time attending the Teach-In, and it was my favorite I've been to. One of the things loved so much about this year's conference was that, in the words of Fr. Massingale, we were able to "have an open, honest, adult conversation about race." Normally, the keynote addresses are spread across the spectrum of justice issues, and race has never been at the forefront, but this year two of the three central talks of the weekend, one by a priest and another by a woman religious, focused on racial justice. We are at a point in our country and frankly, in our Church, where we cannot deny that racism is still a persistent and pervasive institutional sin. We as Catholics have a Biblical obligation to the marginalized and to humble ourselves to exalt others. As such, we are called to fight oppression and racism. It was refreshing to hear that coming so clearly from such significant members of the Church.

Not only was the content of the talks much deeper and more challenging than I expected it would be, but I also had the great blessing of a phenomenal group of people attending the conference with me. Most of my learning and self-reflection came from the insights and experiences of my group that they shared throughout the weekend. I am so grateful for all of them and for the support of the parish that gave us the opportunity to put our faith into action in this way.

CENTERING PRAYER

MONDAYS | 6:30 PM

Centering Prayer is a silent practice of prayer that rests on the faith that Christ is present within by his Holy Spirit. It is an excellent preparation for contemplative prayer, which is a grace or gift bestowed by God.

Centering Prayer is an intentional openness to, or practice of "waiting" on God, encouraging the building of a more intimate relationship with Jesus and the movement of the Holy Spirit. It is rooted in centuries-old monastic prayer.

The book Open Heart, Open Mind by Fr. Thomas Keating, OCSO is a good introduction. The first Monday of each month we listen to an introduction to centering prayer and then pray for 20 minutes. Otherwise, we typically sit and pray for two 20-minute sessions with a short meditative walk in between. All are welcome.
