A VOLUNTEER'S PERSPECTIVE on THE CROSSROADS EASTER MEAL

By Tish Lehman

When my children grew up and moved far away, I decided to try volunteering at Crossroads on Easter (my Jewish husband has no problem spending Easter alone.) The first year, I was responsible for distributing the Easter baskets, which turned out to be difficult, since I had to turn down all the adults who wanted to take them home instead of bringing their children to the dinner. The happy kids made up for the pain of having to say "no." Since then, I've done the early shift (bagging carrot sticks before customers arrived), and the late shift (background work like pouring Vernors over ham or washing dozens of big aluminum pans). This is fun because of the camaraderie with St. Mary's parishioners, but handing out drinks to our customers was the most fun because it involved both groups of people. This year I tried something new, wiping the tables, greeting people, and making myself generally available to our customers as they lined up to get the food and either took it home or ate it there. This turned out to be physically the easiest job, and emotionally both the hardest and most rewarding.

I am filled with admiration for the people who organize and maintain this important service year in and year out. The Crossroads administrators have the difficult job of taking a fresh set of volunteers every week of the year, training us quickly on how to satisfy the important standards of hygiene and quality necessary for giving food to the public, and they do it with the friendly firmness of every high-school principal. The light of Christ shines most brightly from their faces. God is truly working through both the staff and the volunteers.

Best of all are the faces of those being served. Everybody is different. Some arrive beautifully dressed from church; some in the jeans they slept in and carrying bags of all their belongings. Some happily thank us for feeding them, while some stare in lonely solitude among the crowd. Some greet old friends, laugh and flirt; some avert their eyes. One teenage girl goes around the table tucking away the vegetables others didn't want (just as in a school cafeteria, the ham and potato salad are much more popular than the veggies, and the candy is most popular of all.) Every one of them has the face of the Risen Christ. When I drag my exhausted body home at the end of the day, I am satisfied that I have observed this great holiday in the best way.

Sunday Night Mass Survey

Diocesan Services Appeal (DSA)

Our DSA theme, “For Everything is From You, and What We Give Is What We Have From You,” reminds us that we bring nothing material into this world and we take nothing out of it. Everything we have is a gift from God.

Our contributions to DSA allow our diocese to expand our efforts of evangelization and social ministry well beyond what an individual or a single parish could accomplish. The programs, ministries and services funded by the DSA offer not only direct assistance to individuals and families, but also to parishes and schools as they carry out their missions in our 10 county diocese and beyond.

Our PARISH GOAL OF $ 74,613 can be reached if each of us shares a portion of the many blessings God has bestowed upon us.
