Guest Pastoral Perspective

Written by Andrea Cuamatzi, U-M '15

"Jesus didn't call for cheap unity and fake positivity, He called for justice, love and mercy"

These words by keynote speaker Susan Haarman portray the mission of the Ignatian Teach-in for Justice, an annual gathering that commemorates the Jesuit martyrs and their companions in El Salvador in 1989. This gathering unites the Jesuit community in an environment where faith meets social justice. For three days speakers, activists, advocates and members of Jesuit institutions gather to learn, discuss and pray about different social justice issues.

This year St. Mary Student Parish's delegation was composed of 8 people, including myself. From day one, I was amazed and inspired by the unique passion and perspective that each member of this group had to offer. In a time when political tension has made evident the existing segregation in our communities, the Teach-in reaffirmed several things. First, it is our responsibility as Catholics to love back harder than ever. Second, as a reminder to those in vulnerable positions that it is time to step up and keep fighting. And last but certainly not least, we are in this together as one big family.

The speakers at the Teach-in ranged from renowned Jesuits, like Fr. Greg Boyle, to young college campus activists. All of them reminded me of the impact and importance of personal story-telling. It is through stories that we make connections with people and circumstances. We heard from those working to defend the human rights of undocumented Mexican immigrants. We heard from others who advocate against the ongoing racism in our criminal system. We also heard personal testimonies of Catholics within the LGBTQ community who found God even when their own families and church communities closed their doors to them. Through these stories I learned that we must start with small contributions in our own communities before we can see larger transformations across the world.

The Teach-in also reminded me that advocacy entails the ability to listen carefully to other people's stories. Only by paying attention to the experiences and hardships of others can we truly understand and fight for the same cause.

In the words of Susan Haarman, in order to come together in love we must look at the roots of the divisions rather than overlooking the core issues and power dynamics. In order to achieve real unity, we must be able to practice mercy by stepping outside our comfort zone and think outside our social bubble. We must be willing to have our hearts broken and our comfort zones distorted, and we need to recognize the face of God in those that seem to have no voice.

On behalf of all the members of this year's delegation, I want to thank Saint Mary Student Parish for the opportunity to be part of such an amazing and inspiring event. We look forward to continuing to work with our community as we envision a future where justice, love and mercy overcome hatred and division.

We commit ourselves to being a community of care, support, formation, reconciliation, and witness to justice with and among gay and lesbian persons, their parents, family members, and friends.

We teach that all love comes from God and focus on helping people reconcile their faith with their orientation. We provide a safe space for discussion, healing, and prayer. ## 1000 cranes for IRAQ

Since January 2015, Sr. Barb Cervenka, an Adrian Dominican Sister, has been working on a project called 1000 Cranes for Iraq. She makes small paintings of origami cranes, one each day, almost every day, to help people displaced by ISIS in Iraq. The origami cranes are a traditional symbol of peace; to fold 1000 cranes is said to bring an answer to prayer, in this case a prayer for peace in Iraq and for the people forced from their homes and livelihoods by ISIS.

Barb offers these paintings to those making a donation of $100 which goes to help the displaced through the Iraqi Dominican Sisters. These sisters too were forced by ISIS to flee their home in Qaraqosh; they are now living and working among those refugees.

Barb will be in the atrium on Sunday, December 4th after all Masses, and on Sunday, December 11th after the 8:30, 10 and 12pm masses. She'll have more information and samples of the cranes. You can also visit the website www.1000cranesforiraq.org.

The names of those "adopting" cranes will appear on the website and in exhibitions of the work. Donations may be made in memory or in honor of a loved one. Those who "adopt" a crane become part of a community of prayer and concern for our Iraqi sisters and brothers. The cranes stand as a reminder to pray and work for peace in the Middle East and in the world.

Centering Prayer

Mondays at 6:30 pm

Centering Prayer is a silent practice of prayer that rests on the faith that Christ is present within by his Holy Spirit. It is an excellent preparation for contemplative prayer, which is a grace or gift bestowed by God. Centering Prayer is an intentional openness to, or practice of "waiting" on God, encouraging the building of a more intimate relationship with Jesus and the movement of the Holy Spirit. It is rooted in centuries-old monastic prayer. The book, Open Mind, Open Heart by Father Thomas Keating, OCSO, is a good introduction. The first Monday of each month we listen to an introduction to centering prayer and then pray for 20 minutes. Otherwise, we typically sit and pray for two 20-minute sessions with a short meditative walk in between. All are welcome.
