ASIAN PACIFIC HERITAGE

From Fr. Kyle Shinseki, S.J.

I am grateful to have met so many of you during our Parish Meet & Greet over the weekend of April 22-23. As I prepare to take on this new role of pastor, I was greatly encouraged to witness your deep appreciation for and wholehearted dedication to our community.

We are so incredibly blessed to have a parish that represents in so many ways the catholicity or universality of the Church, from a wide range of backgrounds, generations, and experiences. Soon after my ordination, I completed a thesis on ethnic Catholic college student communities, which looked at the important role that ethnic culture plays for many young adult Catholics today in their understanding and practice of the faith.

As our nation celebrates Asian American and Pacific Islander Heritage Month, I thought it would be fitting to share some reflections on how my own cultural heritage has impacted my faith journey.

When I shared with my mother that I would be the new pastor at St. Mary, her first question was about whether the parish would welcome having an “Oriental,” as she put it, as pastor.

My mother grew up during World War II and her grandfather was incarcerated throughout the war in five different U.S. Department of Justice camps across the Western U.S. While I never met my great-grandfather, the stories I heard about the humiliation and embarrassment my family experienced in those dark days had a profound impact on me. Like many Japanese Americans, these challenging experiences galvanized my family to demonstrate beyond a doubt that we were just as American as anyone else. In fact, some of my earliest memories of my paternal grandmother are of her singing patriotic songs like Battle Hymn of the Republic.

Many years later, as a Jesuit scholastic, I was assigned to Creighton University to serve as its first Coordinator of Asian/Pacific Islander Initiatives and spent a summer as an intern at the Japanese American National Museum in Los Angeles. I was asked to accompany families who came to revisit the painful memories of immigration and war-time incarceration and to help the docents, most of whom had been children in the camps, to reflect on their experiences in leading tours. Nearby was the only Japanese Catholic chapel in the U.S., where I attended Mass in Japanese, even though I could not speak nor understand almost any of it. It was there that a Korean woman challenged me to learn Japanese, since she had been forced to do so during the Japanese occupation of Korea.

My formation director at the time, a Filipino American Jesuit, encouraged me to study Japanese and so I spent the next summer attending a private language school and living with Jesuit scholastics in Tokyo. It was there that I met a fellow Jesuit scholastic who had grown up just 15 minutes away from my family’s ancestral village in Yamaguchi. At the end of my time in Japan, I felt that God had granted me the grace to integrate the Japanese American, Catholic, and Jesuit aspects of my identity as a child of God. Soon after returning to the U.S., I was asked to help with Japanese Masses in the Bay Area. I recall how at the first outdoor Mass we celebrated during the pandemic, the 90 year-old matriarch of the community shed tears as I gave her communion saying, “Kirisuto no on-karada.”

God certainly found a way to make use of my Japanese heritage as a Catholic priest.

BRING JESUS!

Did you know that Catholic churches in Washtenaw county are partnering to bring our Eucharistic Lord to the isolated in care and correctional facilities? And that the UM Hospital Spiritual Care Department has recently connected with our regional ministry in order to reboot their volunteer program? We are very much in need of more recruits to adequately meet the need there!

If you are interested in learning more about this ministry, consider coming to the next quarterly regional team meeting on Sunday, May 21, 3:30-5:30 PM at Christ the King, Ann Arbor. (Coming to the training is not a commitment to volunteering, but opportunities for training and service will be presented.)

Racism and the Catholic Church: 'The injustice of racism is an attack on human life.'

Think you're pro-life? Don't forget about the need to stand against racism.

That's right. Racism is a life issue.

Our U.S. Catholic bishops have reminded us of this mandate to help heal the sin of racism in our world. The injustices of racist policies disproportionately affect people of color and other minorities who have the greatest numbers in jail, and in poverty, and with the least access to health care, healthy environments, healthy diets, quality education and affordable housing.

"As bishops, we unequivocally state that racism is a life issue. Accordingly, we will not cease to speak forcefully against and work toward ending racism." (From Open Wide our Hearts, The Enduring Call to Love, A Pastoral Letter against Racism 2018, U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops)

The bishops also state:

"Overcoming racism is a demand of justice... Racism is a moral problem that requires a moral remedy—a transformation of the human heart—that impels us to act. The power of this type of transformation will be a strong catalyst in eliminating those injustices that impinge on human dignity."

Our faith calls us to stand in solidarity with our neighbors and all of creation – to demonstrate, in the words of Pope John Paul II, "a firm and persevering determination to commit oneself to the common good." Pope Francis tells us that means relying on Catholic Social Teaching principles, including policies that consider how decisions impact the poor, and protect the oppressed.

Above all, Catholics believe in the Dignity of the Human Person (a key teaching of CST). It's about the right to an abundant life: the right to reach the full potential of who and what God created each person to be and do.

As a parish group, we want to encourage our fellow Catholics to value the importance of being truly and completely "pro-life."

Sunday Readings

May 14—Sixth Sunday of Easter

Reading I	Acts	8:5-8, 14-17
Psalm	Ps	66:1-7, 16, 20
Reading II	1Pt	3:15-18
Gospel	Jn	14:15-21

The people of Samaria come to worship the Lord and receive the gift of the Holy Spirit. It is this same Spirit who leads us into the truth. In the body, Jesus was put to death; in the Spirit, he was raised to life. We are called to this same glory.

MAY 21—Seventh Sunday of Easter

Reading I	Acts	1:12-14
Psalm	Ps	27:1, 4, 7-8
Reading II	1Pt	4:13-16
Gospel	Jn	17:1-11a

Jesus, having completed the work of his Father, speaks of returning to him and of being glorified. As we share in Christ's glory, so too do we share in his suffering. We have nothing to fear, however, since the Lord is our refuge. In his name do we gather, attentive to the Spirit.
